

AT HOME WITH THE HUMPTY DUMPTY FAMILY

JANUARY

a poem by MARTIN GARDNER

When your mother
Starts to spread
Extra blankets
On the bed,

And you hear
A freezing rain
Pound upon
The window pane,

And the corners
Of the sheet
Feel like ice
Against your feet,

Then you know
At last, my son,
January
Has begun!